Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

Claims 3 and 4 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention.

Re claim 3, the phrase “consisting in correlating” has no clear and definite meaning. The recitations “the corresponding thread”, “the corresponding feed”, “the transit of all the needles” and “the contiguous set of needles” are indefinite as they lack clear antecedent basis.

Re claims 4, “the configuration of the respective regions” is indefinite as it lacks clear antecedent basis

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

Claims 1 and 2 rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by British patent document GB1559675.

needles (page 4, line 93-page 5, line 116), for producing the regions (figure 6) of the design in different colors or with different threads (page 1, line 13-16), with respective feeds or drops (A, B, C, D) of the machine that dispense the corresponding threads, and in moving so as to knit each set of needles at the corresponding feed or drop by actuating the needle cylinder (2) with an alternating rotary motion about its own axis (page 1, line 20-25), with an extent of oscillation that is sufficient to produce the transit of all the needles moved (page 2, lines 63-76) so as to knit of each set of needles at the corresponding feed (page 2, lines 92-99), forming knitting both in the forward rotation and in the return rotation of the needle cylinder, at least the needles located at the ends of each set of needles being moved so as to knit both at the feed or drop that is correlated with the set of needles to which it belongs and at the feed that is correlated with the contiguous set of needles in order to mutually join the various regions of the design.

Conclusion

The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure.
